CONGRESSIONAL. WASHINGTON, December 4 .- House .- Mr Price asked leave to offer a resolution reciting the alleged charges that the nineteenth joint rule, which prohibits the sale of intoxicating rule, which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors in the capitol building, was being violated, and instructing the officer of the house to enforce the joint rule.

The speaker said that as he believed the joint rules were still in force, he had endeavored to have the sale of liquor stopped, and the keeper of the house restaurant had been notified that if it were not stopped he would violate his contract. He was entirely in accord with the resolution, though the officers of the house were in no wise to officers of the house were in no wise to blame for the violation of the rule. The res-

He now has assurance given him that two more regiments—one of infantry and one of cavalry—will be placed immediately at his disposal. Although General Ord is not au-thority for this statement, it is known that thority for this statement, it is known that these two regiments have already been ordered to proceed to Texas and report to him. General Ord says that with four thousand men he feels confident that he can put an end to Texas border troubles and thoroughly enforce the order of Secretary M'Crary. When asked what he thought was the probability of trouble now, he said, carefully, that it all depended upon the tact and good management of the officers in command upon the Texas border, and that while trouble was imminent, yet everything might be averted by good management. For instance, he thought that on the Texas border would do much to keep peace. No Mexican wants to fight when there is a chance of being whipped; and they are such treacherous people to deal with that nothing but force can enable one to protect himself in dealing with them. They are very cunning, and make bargains only to break them. In every case of difficulty that has arisen the Mexicans have generally been able to find some back door by which they could escape responsibility. It is plainly inferred from the cautious remarks of General Ord that he firmly believes that there is A DISPLAY OF FORCE MORE THAN A PROBABILITY OF TROUBLE on the Rio Grande. Owing to the meager force that has been for a long time kept on the border, and the weak and vacillating policy of this government, the Mexicans have acquired a most contemptuous opinion of our power, and think that we are unable to resist any of their encroachments. General Ord thinks that a good force of men would be able to correct this opinion. He is to have given him these two new regiments, and from time to time his force will be strengthened, if need be. He proposes, upon his return, to inanbe. He proposes, upon his return, to inau-

MORE VIGOROUS POLICY, which a lack of force has hitherto prevented him from instituting. He will appear before the house committee on military affairs within a day or two, to submit to them his views on the subject of Mexican border troubles. THE BRITISH CORN TRADE, press Weekly Review-Wheat Con-tinues to be Marketed Sparingly.

London, December 4.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British corn trade, says: "English wheat continues to be marketed sparingly in London, and the provinces imports of foreign wheat into London have not been so excessive as of late. Monday's return gives about sixty thousand quarters. The falling off is shiefly potices had in Indian produce, of which the prospective imports may be more moderate, as Calcutta advices speak of an inadequate state of the inland transport and the consequent difficulty of charterers in tulfilling their engagements. The open season has enabled shipments to be continued from St. Petersburg, and our market remains well supplied with useful market remains well supplied with useful classes of Russian wheat. A good inquiry was experienced for American descriptions, but shipments are not taking place so freely. Business off stands has been quiet, but prices show an advance of a shilling per quarter on all descriptions. The requirements of the country are being fully met by the weekly importations of wheat, and the present attitude of the trade is devoid of speculation, strict attention being turned to political affairs and the probable future action of America. Maize has lost some of its recent activity, but full prices are still obtainable. It is not likely that any marked decline will occur so long as the southern European ports remain blockaded and the export movement in America is directed on wheat-grinding. Barley has improved six pence to a shilling per quarter at Mark-Lane, and in the country oats and corn met with quiet sales at the late rates.

INDIAN DEPREDATIONS

In Dakota Territory - Bands of the Murdering Red Devils Making It Hot for the Miners.

Deadwood, D. T., December 3.—Many rumors are in circulation about Indian depredations on northern routes, but few can be traced to reliable sources. On Saturday, six men reached Crook City, suffering from exposure and want of food. They report that their camp on the Belle Fourche, about forty miles from this city, was attacked by a band of more than two hundred Indians. The party kapt the Indians at bay for some time, but were finally forced to abandon the camp, leaving their horses, mules, camp-equipage and other property, which were taken by the Indians. During the fight three Indians were killed, but no whites were injured.

A report from another source states that a band of Indians visited the Maddeus ranche, at the Cheyenne crossing, on the Fort Pierre route, and ran off all the stock.

A heavy trail was discovered flast week, leading across the Bismarck road, and, at the intersection, the Indians had placed a crude sketch of an Indian and a white man fraternizing, surmounted by three stars.

A ranche on the Sidney road, six miles from Crook City, was attacked, the inmates acked the house and destroyed all the property.
